

School Should Have Longer Recess

Students should have longer recess because they do not have enough time to do a number of things like taking a rest and doing homework. In my opinion, children should have longer recess.

★ First, some students need to finish their homework at school because they do not have enough time to do homework when they go back home. They may need to join other classes after school like swimming class, music class and more.

♥ Then, students taking a longer break can help them focus for the next lesson. Students stay at school for around seven to nine hours. It is a whole day for them.

In my point of view, I suggest school should have longer recess to let them enjoy going to school.
