

Students Should Have Longer Recess

Students do not have enough time to do what they want or need during recess. In my opinion, students should have longer recess.

 First, students should be independent and have a mind to be responsible. They should have more time in recess to do homework, ask teachers about homework problems, clean up, play, chat and go to the restroom.

 Besides, if they have more time, they will be able to manage the time to finish all the things. Therefore, we need to build trust against them to let them know that they are trusted. If they don't feel trusted, they don't feel worthy.

In my point of view, children should have our trust in longer recess and we could trust that they will be independent and responsible. I believe students should have a longer recess for them to be happier at school. Then, students can also work harder in studying.
